

Nayia Frangouli

(born in 1971, Athens) lives and work in New York.

Nayia Frangouli recently received a Master's degree from Yale University.

She has participated in many solo and group shows, a.o.

the Gwangju Biennale, Korea

the Biennale of Pontevedra, Spain, 2004

the Venice Biennale, Utopia Station, Italy, 2003

the European Biennial of Contemporary Art, Ljubljana, 2000

art fairs ARCO'04, Madrid, and the Armory show, New York, both with with Els Hanappe Underground.

She collaborates with many galleries and museums through the world, a.o.

Ambrosino Gallery, Miami, USA,

Leeds & Richard Salmon gallery, London, UK,

The Contemporary Museum, Baltimore, USA,

Fukuoka Art Museum, Japan,

Centre for Contemporary Art Kitakyushu, Japan

SIAKOS.HANAPPE House of Art, Athens